U.S. Boosts Prices Of Dairy Products

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—The United States government today announced a price boost of $250,000,000-a-year price boost for dairy products—and predicted an increase in the price of butter, cheese and milk. Stabilization Director Chester Jones estimated that the price of butter will rise by $250,000,000 more for food annually as the result of price increases of one cent a pound for milk, about 11 cents a pound for butter and approximately six cents a pound for cheese.

THE NEW PRICES will become effective early in June and the exact amount of the increases fixed by the date of the increase. Mr. Bowles also directed OPA and the agriculture department to control the sale of butter, cream, effective July 1, and establishment of price ceilings on milk and cream. The new price ceilings will be set by the OPA. Butterfat gives ice cream its richness.

Price of Butter Is Now Under Review

OTTAWA, May 30.—(CP)—Discussions have been held today to whether the margin between the floor and the ceiling of butter prices is too narrow. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday in the Commons. Replying to William Bryce, (C.P.), Mr. Gardiner said the discussions had been reopened after the price of butter dropped on some markets. "One of the difficulties, when we are controlling the distribution of butter, is that the commodity has to be assembled in May, June, July and August and a certain amount of butter must be available."

Those are the months in which we have a greater production than demand, and we have to carry the butter through until the winter months.

Sees Settlement Of Loggers' Strike

Recommendations of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of the B.C. supreme court, mediator in the strike of 38,000 British Columbia loggers, will likely be made before the end of the present week, Pat Conroy, general secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, stated in an interview here Thursday.

MR. CONROY, who has just come from a survey visit of the strike situation in B.C., predicted that the recommendations of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to employers and strikers may mark an important turning point in the 15-day-old strike that has resulted in an almost complete shutdown in the lumber camps of the coast province.

He ventured the private prediction that a settlement will be reached by the end of the week.

"The strike is solid," Mr. Conroy told reporters.

Theatre Sold

Theatre or moving picture theatre with the exception it may be used as a night club and public dance hall.

Mrs. Ernest Meaden, director of the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Concert Series, said that plans for the forthcoming series scheduled to open about October 17, are now indefinite.

OPENED DEC. 20, 1920, with a London company playing "The Maid of the Mountains," and representing an original way of about $500,000, the building has had many uses, not only as a playhouse, but for political gatherings, sports tournaments and city theatrical efforts, and as there is no alternative theatre it will be greatly missed.

Activity has been spurred in the city architect's office as a result of the sale. The loss of the Empire adds to the immediate need for a civil auditorium in Edmonton.

ACCORDING TO Maxwell C. DeVare, city architect, the auditorium is being planned to seat approximately 2,500, and would be a composite building for recreational and theatrical purposes, perhaps with a swimming pool and gymnasium. The site of the proposed building is on the civic center, south of the CNR station. Plans will not be completed for at least 18 months.

The story that negotiations for sale of the theatre were under way appeared exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin on Saturday. May 15 after verification had been obtained from both sides in the deal. An Edmonton newspaper subsequently published what purported to be a denial of the negotiations. The Bulletin's story now has been confirmed by completion of negotiations.

gross, sociology, and of a greater mutual comprehension in all domains of human activity."

The letter listed by name various types of organizations—including service clubs, and non-sectarian societies—which "one must be on guard against," and dealt with the history of the stand taken by the Roman Catholic Church on such organizations.

"To those who would be tempted to object that the church does not prohibit membership in such societies under pain of excommunication, we would point out that the church is not to force the church to go that far," the extract concluded.

"LET NON-CATHOLICS enter into these neutral clubs. They have nothing to lose, because by virtue of free examination they are not bound by any doctrine. That is not the case with Catholics."

Mgr. Limoges said there were three types of associations which must be guarded against:

1. Freemasonry and its subsidiaries. No one could enter these without risking excommunication.

2. Secret societies explicitly condemned by the Holy See in 1894, such as the Oddfellows, Knights of Pythias, Sons of Temperance, the Independent Order of Good Templars.

3. Suspected societies or "so-called neutral societies." These included those which led more directly to religious indifference, such as the YMCA and YWCA, also denounced by the Holy See in 1920. They also included others which had not been condemned by name but "which are disapproved of in principle because of the common character of their neutrality. Specifically named were Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Elks, Moose."

OTTAWA, May 30.—(CP)—Strong criticism of the "condemnation of service clubs" by Roman Catholic bishops was expressed last night by Senator T. D. Bourchard of St. Hyacinthe, Que., in an interview with the Ottawa Citizen.

Commenting on a pastoral letter by Mgr. Eugene Limoges, bishop of Mont Laurier, made public at Maniwaki, Que., earlier last night, Senator Bourchard said continuation of the policy of opposition to service clubs would not promote unity and good understanding between Canadians of different origin.

He added that he could not see why in Ontario, where there were English speaking Catholic bishops, service clubs were permitted; but in Quebec, where the bishops spoke French, clubs were condemned. Service clubs, as well as forums and other such organizations, could contribute greatly to a better understanding between people of different races by inviting men of other cultures to speak to them about thorny problems and so find a way to some measure of agreement.

Mr. March said this assurance was given Canadian delegates at an international convention held recently in Atlantic City. Steel workers in Canada are demanding a 40-hour week and a minimum take-home pay of $33.00 a week.

workers stopped moving logs to the sawmill and production of the mill which supplies newspaper to Western Canadian and American mills, produces an average of 700 tons of newspaper daily. Some newspaper also goes to Australia.

As the papermakers were attempting to decide on policy, there were these other developments in the 16-day-old strike of some 35,000 British Columbia loggers and sawmill workers.

1. PREMIER JOHN HART promised provincial government action if present negotiations under a federal government mediator failed.

2. Premier Hart called a special cabinet session for tomorrow to consider charges of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association that "present deplorable conditions in the province" are the result of a "planned communist attempt to control and disrupt industrial life on this continent."

3. Negotiations under Chief Justice Gordon Sloan continued at Victoria with the operators resuming presentation of their case in the dispute involving union demands for a 25-cent hourly wage boost, a 40-hour week and union security.

THE CMA BRANCH in its letter to Mr. Hart blamed current labor strife on "foreign-dominated unions" and "United States labor leaders' attempts to increase Canadian costs to the inflationary level and a move by union leaders to perpetuate their grip on industry."

Union leaders described the CMA charges as "reactionary," "straight facism" and "another attempt to bring out the red bogey." The CMA asked for federal and provincial government penalties on persons responsible for illegal strikes.

An emergency meeting of millpond workers with A. E. Hansen and Murray Mount, executives of the APL, pulp, sulphite and paper mill workers, ended shortly before 1 a.m.

DURING the meeting, a statement was issued that production would end when pulp supplies ran out at six a.m. Later, however, the company decided to close the mill at 2 a.m. to conserve a small stock of pulp.

Membership meetings this morning are expected to discuss whether millpond workers will continue to handle logs declared "hot" by the IWA and "fair" by the two AFL paper mill workers' unions and the Powell River Company.

A LASTING SHUTDOWN will cut off paper supplies to all B.C. and Alberta newspapers and more than 100 other newspapers on the Pacific coast.

IWA pickets are riding the boom in the millpond, which is on company property, but provincial police have had no requests from the company to evict the pickets as trespassers.

for an hourly wage increase of 25 cents an hour and a 40-hour week in place of the 48-hour week currently effective throughout the logging industry.

The loggers gradually scaled down their demands to a 16 1/2 cents an hour increase, while the operators were finally willing to pay 12 1/2 cents an hour above the present wage scale. At this point negotiations became deadlocked.

MR. CONROY FELT that settlement of the hours of work would be made on a compromise of 44 hours per week.

Chief Justice Sloan has been hearing evidence in the dispute from both strikers and operators.

Mr. Conroy gave three major clues for the present wave of strikes and general industrial unrest.

Wages were frozen during the war years. Prices have been rising steadily.

THIRDLY, AND MOST important of all, is the long range conviction of organized labor that if Canada is to escape another major depression, wages must be maintained at the highest possible level, with workers working a generally shortened week. The price level of commodities is maintained at a stable level.

Max unemployment already threatens, the labor union secretary said, with 250,000 without work in Canada at present.

"That is a pretty fair start on mass unemployment already," he remarked.

He declared the charge by employers that labor costs was the big factor in price increases is false.

"Only in a couple of the heavy industries is the labor cost a real factor," he declared.

Mr. Conroy will address Canadian Congress of Labor union members in a meeting at the Villa Laurier this evening.

The CCL has a total membership of 350,000 he said.

WHILE IN EDMONTON Mr. Conroy conferred with Jan Lake, president of the Edmonton council of the CCL, and other union leaders.

He planned to leave for Saskatoon Friday.

Air Force Vessel Ends Long Voyage

HALIFAX, May 30.—(CP)—Trim and jaunty as a well-travelled lady, the tiny motorship Malahat rode into Halifax harbor yesterday with her Royal Canadian Air Force crew of 14, to complete "Operation Seahorse"—a 40-day voyage from Vancouver via the Panama canal.

Official fanfare greeted the 94-foot vessel, essaying the air force's first cross-continent trip via the water, as she ended a 6,650-mile voyage her skipper revealed went off "like clockwork" until the last 50 miles.

"WE WERE COMING up the coast—almost within sight of Halifax—when we ran into a storm of Lunenburg," Sqn.-Ldr. S. C. N. Hurdie, veteran Vancouver seafarer, related. "Seas were running 50 feet and the ship started creaking so we put into port."

The non-scheduled stop Tuesday night at Lunenburg was the only one of the final 1,400-mile leg for the 162-ton Malahat, which has a cruising range of 2,200 miles, supply and salvage vessel, she will be based at nearby Dartmouth during the same work for the Royal Canadian Air Force here as she did under wartime conditions on the west coast.

Best Canada Bacon Is Going to Britain

OTTAWA, May 30.—(CP)—Canada could not hope to compete with Aile and Denmark for the British bacon market if all the good bacon was retained in this country and the poor bacon sent to the United Kingdom, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday in the Commons. Replying to R. R. Knight (CCF-Regina City), Mr. Gardiner said Canada was sending between 75 or 85 per cent of her bacon to the United Kingdom. During two months last year the amount had been boosted to 90 per cent. If all the good bacon now being produced was turned on to the Canadian market the price for bacon would not remain high for very long.

The vessel brought fresh food and supplies for the Hudson's Bay store. One barge was left at the mouth of the Peel river with supplies for Fort McPherson. The second will be taken to Tuktoyaktuk on the Arctic coast later in the season.

WUPPERTAL, Germany, May 30.—(AP)—The killing of four British and French servicewomen by drugging and burning them alive in the Sirohufer Natzweiler concentration camp was described at a war crimes trial here today.

According to evidence, the women were captured and taken to the camp, where they were told they would be inoculated against typhus. The injection put them in a stupor, after which they were thrown alive into a crematorium.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, added that it was "a defeat for the American people, who must foot the bill."

"THE PRODUCERS of bituminous coal have been over 20 years the necessity for improving conditions of workers in the industry," Mr. Battle said in a statement, "and the record is clear that great progress has been made in that direction."

"Every effort toward that end will be continued by the mine owners."

Stirs Controversy Over Canada Flag

NEW YORK, May 30.—(CP)—Baron Inverchapel maintained yesterday his right not to "mind his own business" but in the same breath defended those in Canada who accused him of meddling in domestic matters when he asserted Monday that Canada's national flag should contain a Union Jack symbol of the Dominion's ties with Britain.

The new British ambassador to the United States arrived in New York en route to Washington unperturbed by the stir raised in the United States concerning his comment in Halifax Monday on the design of a Canadian flag which a parliamentary committee is considering. He said stoutly: "I still think it should have a Union Jack."

OF THE REMARK dropped in the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday night by Dr. Pierre Gauthier (Lib.-Portneuf) that he should "mind his own business," the ambassador said: "I've often been told to mind my own business. But I never do."

Lord Inverchapel added, however, that "a Canadian has the right to tell me to mind my own business."

He denied that he also stated in Halifax during a stop there of the liner Queen Mary to discharge some 2,000 British brides of Canadian servicemen that he had "armed critics" the "dullest game in the world." He added: "I said it is a dull game. It is."

Consumer Contacts Urged For Farmers

LONDON, May 30.—(CP)—The international farmers' conference today accepted a committee recommendation that farmers co-operatives should pass from the initial stages of marketing in which they so far have been engaged and enter the fields of service which would bring them closer to the consumer.

THE REPORT said that real gain for farmers often lay more in obtaining a larger share of the retail price than in pressing for higher price levels. Agricultural co-operatives should seek to undertake the manufacture of fertilizer, feed, petroleum and other products such as farm implements when this was deemed desirable in the interests of the producer members.

Further committee reports were to be heard this afternoon and the conference is expected to conclude tomorrow after the establishment of an International Federation of Farmers.

Senate Reform May Come Soon

OTTAWA, May 30.—(CP)—Promised but long-delayed reform of the Canadian Senate may be coming during the next year or two, in the opinion of Tom Reid, the fighting reformer from New Westminster, B.C.

"I believe Prime Minister King is pulling together all the loose ends of government in Canada," said Mr. Reid to The Bulletin during a session of the Joint House-Senate Canadian flag committee.

"IN THIS CATEGORY are the new Canadian citizenship bill and the government proposal for a distinctive Canadian flag as well as the BNA amendment to establish a new system of parliamentary representation on a strict population basis."

"Mr. King, I feel sure, is doing all these things in order to put Canada on a sound basis of national unity and efficient government before he departs from political activities. I would not be surprised, therefore, if Senate reform will be proposed at some succeeding session during the life of this parliament."

Asked what he thought the Senate reform might mean, Mr. Reid said the first step would probably be an age limitation for the Senators.

An Unnecessary Strike

It is unfortunate that Chief Justice Gordon M. Sloan of British Columbia has not issued a full report of the negotiation proceedings in the west coast loggers' strike last week. The public should know exactly what went on behind those closed doors and thus be in position to place the blame for the breakdown in the discussions.

For the public, after all, has the deepest and most vital concern in this deadlock, which interferes with the economic life of the province and the general economy of the country.

The statements issued by the union and the operators are curiously contradictory and unsatisfactory, particularly in view of the fact that all that separates the conflict in parties is a matter of 5½ cents an hour and four hours work in the week.

One is inclined to feel that if a compromise cannot be worked out under these circumstances, the ordinary give-and-take of intelligent democracy must be in a pretty bad way.

The further questions of the check-off and union security are not vital issues of the situation. It is impossible to doubt that the Rand formula applied in the Ford strike should meet the views of both sides.

Thus, the continuance of this unhappy strike, paralyzing industry and promoting economic disaster, is pure nonsense. The little stands between the contending parties, Chief Justice Sloan should continue his labors in this problem. He is eminently fitted to do so. He enjoys the respect of both organized labor and the employers. More important still, he has the fullest confidence of the public.

There is no doubt that he could end this strike to the satisfaction of everyone were he given a chance. The present method of hearings to be followed by the minister of labor is unwieldy and slow.

It would be to the public interest if Chief Justice Sloan should be made final arbitrator, with both parties agreeing in advance to accept his decision.

A Changed Picture

Rain on Tuesday brightened the crop outlook in Alberta decisively. It could even be said that the outlook, though still uncertain, is brighter. The weather, however, has created a situation which was far from hopeful in the central area of the province and was alarming in some of the southern districts.

Tuesday gave the western half of the province generally a refreshing downpour, which fortunately extended eastward into Saskatchewan on Wednesday. The drought, which may be supposed, is broken, and showers may be looked for in favorable frequency.

Every branch of food production suffered from the drought, and now faces a bettered prospect. Pastures have been poor, and even the best of the province complained that their busy little workers could not find flowers from which to extract honey. Over night this picture changed—and so did the mood of people in town and country.

Maybe a spell of dry weather once in a while is not amiss. It helps us to "keep our feet on the ground", our heads "out of the clouds", and to remember that in this life we are utterly dependent on a few common-places but easily forgotten factors. We live on the top four inches or so of the soil, and we can only live at all if the rains fall. It is sanitizing to keep these homely facts in mind.

Canada's Farming Future

The present world shortage of food calls attention to the manner in which Canada's population has shifted from country to city in the past 45 years.

There were 5,371,315 people in Canada in 1901. There were 11,506,655 in 1941 and the present population in 1946 is estimated at 12,119,000.

The change in the distribution of this population as between 1901 and 1941 is shown in this census table:

	Rural	Urban	Total
1901	3,357,093	2,014,222	5,371,315
1941	5,252,416	6,254,239	11,506,655

Thus, a country which was predominantly rural in 1901 had become predominantly urban in 1941. Actually, the urban predominance is greater than indicated by these figures because many of the so-called "rural" districts adjacent to cities are really urban in nature and pursuits.

It is obvious that this tendency, if continued, could have a very profound effect on food production.

It will be well to remember, then, that agricultural as well as artisan settlers are needed in this country. There is room on the land for many more than are now engaged in farming.

But farming will have to be made attractive, if the ex-rural shift of population is to be corrected. The government guaranteed maintenance of good farm prices, to make possible the building of farm homes with modern conveniences and equipment is an essential factor to this end.

Words Across The Sea

Mr. Molotov and Mr. Byrnes are exchanging views on the question of whether Premier Stalin did or did not agree last December to the proposition that Germany be kept disarmed for twenty-five years. Mr. Molotov says he didn't. Mr. Byrnes says he did, and quotes from the conference records to prove it. Premier Stalin just puffs his curved pipe in silence.

The important point is not really whether Stalin—or anybody else—said this should be done, but whether it is to be done. If Germany is allowed to rearm while Nazi infestation is still widespread and ready to hatch new devilry, the Allies will be inviting another world tragedy. That the latent power for mischief will die out in less than a quarter of a century there is not even reason to hope.

Defeat merely chased Nazism underground. It will not be extinguished by the hanging of a hundred or so of Hitler's lieutenants and hangers-on. The continuing danger is the multitude of minor "apostles" of the murder creed who will not be hanged. These are at large and will be. They are fanatics and will remain fanatics. That they will propagate the doctrine with the fervor of fanatics must be expected.

That cannot be altogether prevented. These agents of evil are probably busy with under-cover propaganda work right now. No one needs to be reminded that the soil for this sowing has been shown to be fertile. And the inevitable end of Nazism is war. Aggression is inherent in the creed. To keep Germany disarmed is the one practical way to protect non-Nazi Germans and neighboring nations against another upsurge of fuhrerism.

In the debate about Premier Stalin's position last December, Mr. Byrnes seems to have the documents to prove his claim. That raises the question of why Moscow has changed its mind on the subject—if Mr. Molotov means that it is now opposed to the disarmament plan. Is it part of a new Russian policy that rearming should be permitted in Germany?

Sir Ben Smith resigned from the British ministry of food, a casualty of the famine in Europe. He cut the rations in Britain and shipped 200,000 tons of the meagre food reserves to Germany in order to prevent wholesale starvation in the British occupied zone there. The reaction caused his retirement.

The striking loggers at the coast are going to "march" to Victoria, to urge the provincial authorities to get the dispute settled. But the provincial minister of labor points out that neither the provincial nor the federal governments can intervene until Chief Justice Sloan has completed his hearings as conciliator. The way to speed settlement would seem to be to get in all the evidence as quickly as possible and see if conciliation cannot find a way through the present. Unless and until that fails, the launching of any other official action could prolong the tie-up as easily as end it.

Things must be different in England, since George Bernard Shaw is able to doubt that the Allies won the victory. On this continent there is no doubt about that. If they hadn't won, we wouldn't be bickering now about money wages and working hours, and shutting off production in the heat of the argument. Herr Hitler had a way of settling such matters without any fuss, and of dealing with anybody who didn't like his arrangements. Had he won the war, which he came unpleasantly near doing, his non-Nazi subjects on this continent could not expect to get any better pay or easier treatment than he gave his subjects at home.

In the revolutionary movements of Europe, student bodies have played an enormous role. Representing the most politically conscious section of youth, they belong to the advance guard of social and political change, and have been a barometer of the future.

The first uprising in Prague against the Austro-Hungarian occupation occurred in the Charles University. The ranks of every underground movement were recruited from university students. Even in Germany, the first public demonstration against the Nazis occurred in the University of Munich.

Today in Europe

PARIS—There is no truth in rumors to the effect that General Charles de Gaulle is being kept under some form of restraint by the French government. His demonstrative though mysterious pilgrimage to the tomb of Clemenceau was proof of his liberty of movement. This has been confirmed by his journey to attend his niece's wedding in Switzerland.

I have taken the trouble to trace these rumors to their source. The story behind them seems worth telling, for it gives an interesting insight into de Gaulle's character.

Some months ago, a famous firm of Swiss watchmakers decided to present de Gaulle with the latest and best specimen of their work. They sent two of the most skilled workmen to present it in person to de Gaulle. On arriving in Paris, the two learned he was living in the Forest of Marly, 15 miles outside the city. With some difficulty, they chartered a taxi and drove out to the hunting lodge which the French government has placed at de Gaulle's disposal.

Some 400 yards from the house, they were stopped by police, who asked for their papers and required as to their business. After they had explained their object, the police telephoned the house and told the Swiss to wait. While waiting they had ample opportunity to examine the wire fence with which the property is surrounded and to note the large number of guards.

After about fifteen minutes, one of de Gaulle's aides walked down from the house. The Swiss were more than willing to explain. The aide then took the watch and, asking them to wait, returned to the house. Twenty minutes later, he reappeared, thanked them for the handsome gift, and explained that General de Gaulle never received visitors and hoped they would understand.

The two Swiss returned to Geneva somewhat crestfallen. Unaware of the characteristic of de Gaulle's whole episode was, they concluded that he was virtually a prisoner. The story got about and all who heard it concluded that this was the only explanation.

The truth, of course, is very different. There are many people who would like to assassinate de Gaulle. The French government has taken steps to protect him.

Editor, Bulletin: On behalf of the executive of the Alberta Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, I wish to express our sincere appreciation of the splendid co-operation given by your paper during the April campaign of this society.

The campaign had, primarily, two objectives. The first was to try to reach every home in the province of Alberta with a message of hope concerning the dread disease of cancer. The second was to increase our membership and raise sufficient funds to carry on a continuous program of education and research.

You will be gratified to know that our provincial objective of $35,000 has already been exceeded and returns are still coming in. The success of this drive, I assure you, is due in no small part to the excellent assistance given by Alberta's newspapers.

The Bulletin's SPORTS NOW by Hal Dean

WITH baseball just nicely underway, hockey is strictly out of season, but the general plan for next winter's senior operations in Western Canada will likely take shape at the meeting of the Calgary Hockey Association this coming week-end.

Lethbridge, it seems, is definitely in the field for a berth in the senior circuit, and it can be taken for granted Regina will be pushed around the same as last winter.

Charles B. Whitney, owner of the Capitals and who absorbed a severe financial shock last season, announced at Regina a few days ago, "there will be a Cap hockey team next winter in the senior league, sponsored by myself and possibly a few other men... under new management."

Apparently, Calgary Stampede winners of the Allan Cup, will be in contact with the possible exception of Pete Stelmach, mentioned for the Lethbridge managerial post.

It seems inevitable, therefore, that both Edmonton and Saskatoon will be looking for additional talent, and an amateur club will be required for Regina.

If Lethbridge comes in, that means a scramble for players will be just that much more intensified, for the supply of senior calibre players is decidedly limited.

AND IT'S NOT ONLY senior hockey that has been occupying the spotlight of late in Regina, for the junior situation also has been causing considerable stir in the Saskatchewan capital.

There has been quite an agitation for one of our own team there instead of two mediocre clubs, but the latest proposal is that Comandos be linked with the senior Caps, Abbots to continue on their own with a Boston Bruins blessing.

Meanwhile, reports Dave Dryburgh, rival clubs are openly sending agents into town to whisker-hunted words to stars like Gordie Knutson and Duke Fisher.

WHEN VAL BERG, manager of the junior Canadiens baseball club, Nelson Gains Six-Hour Lead In Match With Dick Burton

NEWTON, Mass., May 30.—(AP)—Playing his deadly accurate game, Byron Nelson, P.G.A. titlist and leading light in American golf, won his third straight, gained a six-hole lead on the British open champion, Dick Burton, during the first half of their 36-hole challenge match Wednesday at the Charles River Country Club.

The Briton, who arrived here two days ago, was in a slice on the 64½-yard longest, which he saved as a result of 48 hours of rain.

He also was uncertain on the greens and before taking off with Nelson for Mamaroneck, N.Y., where they will play the final 18 today as part of the Goodall round-robin tournament.

"I had no confidence in my putting," Nelson, who set up Charles Rivers' competitive record of 68, four under par, four years ago while winning a "big" match, said.

Before Frank Oulmet, the former national open and amateur titlist, charged Burton with 79 strokes, but Nelson, who broke with a 77 because he marked a six and a four against his opponent on the 16th and 17th holes, was later picked up. Oulmet had given him a seven and five on those holes.

WITHOUT HOLDING a single long putt, Nelson won eight holes and lost two to the visitor.

Thanks to the lucky break, he jumped into the lead on the second hole, where his second shot, a 10, was just what he needed, a feminine member of the 3,500 gallery and dropped almost to the edge of the hole instead of its true destination in some thick rough. Don Byron capitalized for his first birdie.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

RODNEY, Ont., May 30.—(CP)—A no-run, no-hit game, which was a dream—was pitched by right-hander Junior Tobias last night as Rodney defeated Newbury by a score of 30-0, in a tri-county senior baseball game. Tobias struck out 11 men.

Brooklyn's Vic Lombardi Cops Seventh Ends Giant Win Streak Of 5 Games

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Little Vic Lombardi is the first National League hurler to notch seven victories this season.

The diminutive southpaw throtled New York Giants on five hits to pitch the pace-setting Brooklyn boys to a 4-1 triumph.

It was another seventh victory for Lombardi—his seventh straight over the Giants without a defeat in two years.

The Dodger win also snapped a five-game New York winning streak.

In the other National League contests yesterday Cincinnati took a 4-0 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals beat Chicago Cubs 3-1.

IN THE SENIOR circuit's night contest, Philadelphia Phillies downed Boston 3-1.

In American League New York Yankees blanked Washington Senators 4-0 while Boston Red Sox shut out Philadelphia Athletics 2-0 and Detroit Tigers squeaked Cleveland Indians 4-1.

Benny Warren's circuit smash in the fourth inning spoiled a season's bid for a shutout at Brooklyn. The Dodgers pushed three runs across the plate in the first inning on two singles and two walks. In the seventh frame pinch-hitter Ed Steward drove in two runs with a single when the bases were loaded.

DIXIE WALKER, popular Brooklyn outfielder, returned to action after a five-day layoff and collected two hits in four trips to the plate. Walker was suspended by league president Ford Frick last week for fighting.

At Pittsburgh the Reds snuffed out a Pirates winning streak of four games. Two singles and an infield out gave Cincinnati an eighth-inning run which broke a 2-0 deadlock before a 4-22 fan.

NINE PITCHERS took the mound in the lengthy game. The Pirates, before Harry Gumbert stopped the hit barrage.

Pitcher Harry Breechen and reliever Earl Kautsky were just about the entire show at the Pirates. Breechen won the series, Breechen winning the series, Breechen winning the series.

New Winnipeg Grid Coach High on Prospects for Fall

WINNIPEG, May 30.—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers wind up their spring training session this week-end and coach Jack Wainwright returns to his North Dakota home to plan a warm gridiron welcome for Montreal Alouettes who play an exhibition series here Aug. 31 and Sept. 2.

What talent West can throw against the Alouettes went on to prepare for the fall practices and the western Canada conference schedule.

WAINWRIGHT has the word for it though that the bombers "will be in there with everything we've got when I return. I'll have a few imports with me. I've already contacted two or three backs but of course nothing certain can be arrived at this early."

Some of the players West is angling for are Quarterback, Bill Ordway and Don Hiney, all former North Dakota stars. Dolber, a triple-threat, was released from the U.S. coast guard, also is sought by the Los Angeles Bulldogs. Ordway is a full back and Hiney, who attended the spring session here is another half back.

THEN IT IS POSSIBLE that Martin Butch Gainer, an all-time great in Canadian football, may turn out again and West frequently has voiced his praise of centre Mel Wilson.

"We could do with another end and possibly a running guard but the boys I have don't need more than a little polishing up here and there to be a first class team," West said.

The Bombers stack up well with any squad he has coached.

"These boys aren't as big as I'd like, but they've got a lot of heart. I've never had four boys in a backfield before. I've got Ken Draper, Jim Foubister, Norm Geller and Don Smith. Yes, I'm rather anxious to see how they go against a good eastern team."

The Bombers incidentally don't anticipate any trouble in meeting the $7500 guarantee they have made the Alouettes. Osborne Stinson holds the record for 6,000 and 7,000 and sellouts are expected.

YOU REACH a certain age when you learn to win more than anything else in the world," he said later. "Then when you lose, you find it awfully tough to take. Sometimes you can hardly stand it. I've been in baseball 40 years and I've learned 28 years and 4 figured it was time to get out."

The 56-year-old veteran was a lurch in his praise for his successor, "Dickey is the finest, most loyal fellow on the ball club," he stated.

Famous Auto Race Is Set for Today

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30.—(AP)—Automobile race fans hungry for exciting crack-ups, thrills and speed after a four-year famine, may establish a record attendance for today's 30th renewal of the world-famous 500-mile race at the Indianapolis speedway with a crowd ranging upwards of 140,000.

The starting field of 33 drivers, European and American, has a history of the event, is complete.

ONLY CLEAR weather is needed to assure perfect racing conditions. Showers, with cooler temperatures, were forecast. In the event of rain, the start scheduled for 10 a.m. CST, may be delayed until the weather clears. If showers come during the race, the drivers' speed will be slowed down to 45 miles in hour pending cessation of the rain.

Hundreds were lined up in front of the sprawling 42-acre racing plant, six miles northwest of Indianapolis, awaiting the opening of the gates at 6 a.m.

British Cricket Now Streamlined

LONDON, May 30.—(Reuters)—A streamlined brand of cricket has come to Britain this summer after six years of war and thousands of Britons are flocking to matches to see their favorite wicket stars.

Highlighted by the visit of 16 star Indian players, the traditional British summer sport is getting away to a good start with the batting line-up of all games, an effort once again featuring the green pitches.

As if to confound the assertion of Lord Leverhulme, new British ambassador to the United States, on his arrival in Canada that this is the quietest of all games, an effort once again featuring the green pitches.

PERCENTAGES have been abandoned in the county cricket championship and points substituted to play for many years. Crawley won on the 20th hole after more than three hours of play when he hit the pin with his chip shot and sank a four-foot putt.

FRANK STRANAHAN, Toledo, Ohio, star, went into the fifth round by blasting R. M. Robertson of Barrow and Ronald J. White of Birkdale, both of California, born Robert Sweeney, who has lived in England for a number of years, scored an easy win over R. F. Cottingham of Holme Hall by five and four.

Before Francis Oulmet, the former national open and amateur titlist, charged Burton with 79 strokes, but Nelson, who broke with a 77 because he marked a six and a four against his opponent on the 16th and 17th holes, was later picked up. Oulmet had given him a seven and five on those holes.

Say Conn May Become Stale Before Bout With Joe Louis

GREENWOOD LAKES, N.J., May 30.—(CP)—With nearly a month to go before he meets Joe Louis for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, Billy Conn is sharp as a razor and cocky as a turkey.

The 28-year-old Pittsburgh Irishman, who was knocked out in the 12th round of his 1941 meeting with Louis, is down to 182½ pounds and confident of victory June 19. He talks easily and casually of his chances and declares with obvious sincerity: "I wish the fight was tomorrow."

VETERAN OBSERVERS who have watched both Conn and Louis in training see Billy's point. Louis, who started training some time ago, is still considerably overweight. He has been slow getting into shape and Conn is rated as a better bet right now, whereas three weeks of hard training can help Louis a lot. Conn followed a similar pattern in 1937 when he fought with Louis.

"SURE, I FEEL SWELL," he told the fight writers. "I'm right down in the weight. I weigh 182½ now and I'll weigh in at 180 or under. That's my best weight. I was 174 when I met Joe before."

Conn's appearance supported his words. He still overplays his trunks and the waist but his legs are hard and the punching muscles in his shoulders are like jumping snakes.

Dorothy Dix Says:

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married only a year, I am Number Three on his wife string. Number One died. He walked out on Number Two after a few months with her. Then I hit the jackpot. Although neither of my predecessors seem to have given great satisfaction, nothing that I do pleases him, and he spends his time in comparing me unfavorably with them.

I don't comb my hair like Sally did. I don't wear the kind of clothes that Ethel did. He wants me to dye my hair to the color of Number One and buy my hair at the place that Number Two bought it. I can't even cook a meal that doesn't make him think of how Sally broiled a steak, and what a crackerjack biscuit-maker Ethel was.

I am literally and figuratively fed up on these odious comparisons and am thinking about leaving him to his memories and going back home to my own people. What do you think?

WEAVER WIFE.
ANSWER: I should think you would be not only weary but worn out with having your husband flout his ex-wives' virtues in your face, and why any man has little enough sense to do it, passes all comprehension.

WEIT IT SEEMS to be a common pastime with widowers who remarry. They may have lived a cat and dog life with their Number Ones. They may have hated their cooking and found fault with their hair-do and raised ructions over the bills, but if they die, or get divorced, they immediately become shining models that are held up as examples to the wives who are the present incumbents.

Whether husbands do this because they are dumb, or whether it is because they are just plain mean, is a mystery, but there is little that the live wife can do about it. She has to either take it, or leave it.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband considers himself henpecked due to the fact that I insist on going with him everywhere he goes. I do this because I do not trust him and I don't want to be worried when he is away from me. He continually tells me about women he meets on his job who are trying to go with him.

I do not feel that I am fair to him. I know he has torn down my confidence in him so that I think that the only way I can keep my authority over him is to go with him at all times. What do you think about my plan?

DOUBTFUL.
ANSWER: As a henpecker, you certainly rate the higher brackets, but I can imagine no marriage more ghastly than one in which the wife keeps the husband on a leash and never lets him go anywhere without her being right on his heels.

IT HAS ALWAYS seemed to me that no man was more to be pitied than the one whose wife put him through a questionnaire about everything he had done, and everywhere he had been, and what they said and he said, and what made him live minutes late and so on, and so on; but you go the third degree lady one better by being continually Sally-on-the-spot, and wherever he goes, you go.

Still, if he stands it, instead of taking the first train out for parts unknown, perhaps he doesn't mind it. But the trouble with espionage is that it always breaks down somewhere. Some day, some way, the wife looks the other way for a minute and hubby runs wild. It seems to me that a man who has to be shadowed all the time isn't worth watching.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married girl of 22, with a very undecided mind because I believe I am in love with a man other than my present husband. My husband is devoted to me and our little daughter. He has many good qualities that other men do not possess. Yet I feel I love the other man as much as I do him. Also, I know that there is a chance of my husband's getting the dropsy, per se, and I feel I divorce my husband and marry this other man.

What do you think I should do?
ANSWER: Well, as you are still on the fence about which man you really prefer, my earnest advice to you is to jump down on the side where your good, kind husband and little child are, and where there is decency and safety and security for you.

With women a large part of love is self-hypnotism. They can practice it, think themselves in love with any man, and they must be so to be happy. If you are wise, you will do this. Concentrate on your husband.

Why Grow Old?

Your hair will come in for more attention now that hot weather is approaching. Perspiration gets in the hair, too, you know and you'll have to shampoo it oftener and massage the scalp carefully as Actress Leza Holland is doing.

WITH HOT WEATHER again draperies and gowns. When we enter swim and become overheated a simple hair-do is indeed a boon. The problem of perspiration virtually has been solved for us by modern deodorants and anti-perspirants. The deodorants are designed simply to prevent odor while the anti-perspirants stop or slow up perspiration by closing the pores and covering the perspiration pores. Perspiration is full of waste products. Ordinarily it is quite odorless but when evaporation is slow, as it is under the arms, bacteria enter the picture, the waste products decompose more readily and an unpleasant odor results.

TODAY YOU CAN buy anti-perspirants in liquid or cream form or you can purchase the convenient little pads now available. What form you choose and how often you use one of these products is a matter of personal taste and need. In hot weather we naturally should apply these perspiration slowers after a shower or bath. Some women require them only once every three days while others must use them every day. Practically all of the products have been tested as to their effect on material and will be harmless to your dresses.

Your good friends, the deodorants, anti-perspirants, scented water, flower-like fresh summer toilet waters, and soothing powders will go a long way toward making summer comfortable and you alluring.

IF YOU WISH to have my leaflet on hair styling send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for leaflet No. 31 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Trans-Continental Canoeist in City

With a hazardous seven-week canoe trip from the Pacific Coast to Edmonton, already behind him, 66-year-old O. P. Smith of Vancouver has started out on the second lap of a voyage that will carry him to New York City.

"It was just hard work," Mr. Smith said when asked about his trip on the Fraser River. The water was low and the ice piled high on the banks. I had to tow the canoe for miles along the banks.

MR. SMITH LEFT Vancouver, April 7. He made his way up the Fraser River, portaged to Summit Lake, canoed down the Crooked, Cad, Pampin and Peace rivers to Peace River, from where he portaged to High Prairie, paddled to Athabasca and came from there to Edmonton by train.

He plans to complete the voyage via Lake Winnipeg, Winnipeg River, Lake of the Woods and the Great Lakes.

Mr. Smith lived in Edmonton from 1905 to 1918 and served with the U.S. Army during the Philippine war.

Lake Titicaca, in Bolivia, covers 3,200 square miles.

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as loss of appetite, stunted growth, brittle bones, faulty nerves, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B₁, D, Riboflavin (G) and Nicotin. Ovaltine also contains Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances completely proven to build muscle, nerve and body cells. It gives energy food for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard growth and development.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, undernourished, perhaps nervous, why not help him get the normal growth and better appetite.
